SUMMARY OF MEETING:

The JPMA representative came by to introduce themselves to Commissioner Moore and the tell him that they were interested in working on a safety project with CPSC. They indicated that Chairman Ann Brown had asked them to consider a project focusing on safety issues involving grandparents and grandchildren and they were going to look into the feasibility of such a project.

The representatives said they had a major trade show event in Dallas each year in September and invited the Commissioner and his staff to attend.

The representatives talked a little about their product certification program and the level of participation among the manufacturers of juvenile products.
