This meeting focused on training for flammable refrigerants.

The meeting began with discussions on the work of the communications working group and the implication to the training working group. The group decided that while there is overlap between the two groups, the purpose of the two groups and the ultimate goal is clear. AHRI wants to create resources for others to develop training.

The meeting then focused on editing a document that the communications working group had originally drafted.

The group reiterated that creating training for technicians was important to all.

The next meeting is scheduled for October 18, 2019 for the codes and standards task group. The next training meeting will be scheduled later after a Doodle Poll survey, probably in 2 weeks.
