This Flammable Refrigerant Safe Transition Task Force meeting focused on safety training. Most of the discussions related to training issues, including whether the group will develop training or just provide content to others who would be responsible for the development. The intention is that the training would be targeted at the entire value stream, from installers, to authorities having jurisdiction and the fire service, to consumers and any other groups that have exposure.

The next teleconference will be scheduled for the end of next week, June 27 and June 28.
