SUMMARY OF MEETING:

The Task Group (TG) Lead reminded the task group of what had been discussed in the June 2nd meeting and picked up on the agenda from where the last meeting ended. Main discussions included warnings in the instructions, specifically about not using the product if the consumer suffers from a sleep disorder or is impaired and what type of bed or surface the product should not be used on. This discussion then led back to identifying what type of bedding may be hazardous, such as “adult bedding,” “adult sheets,” “blankets,” or “comforters.” TG did not reach a consensus before the meeting time ran out. The TG Lead advised the group he would review the ideas raised and adapt the warnings and instructions to address the discussion. He said he will be setting up another meeting soon.
