Summary of Meeting:

The group reviewed comments from the ballot. CPSC staff comment was in support of the ballot. A few comments stated that the scope was too encompassing, and it would lead to products being included in the standard that could not meet the requirement of the standard. It was decided that a separate task group to narrow the scope of the standard was needed. CPSC will participate in the scope task group. Group members agreed that “ottoman beds” and “plastic storage bins” should be stated as an exemption to the standard and that, if necessary, a separate standard should be made for those products. There was some concern that “doors” should not be grouped with “lids”. The group decided that it will revisit the concerns after the scope task group meets.
