Summary of Meeting:

The ASTM D13.52 subcommittee on flammability met and discussed revisions to D1230 Standard Test Method for Flammability of Apparel Textiles to align with updates in 16 C.F.R. part 1610 Standard for the Flammability of Clothing Textiles along with working on the dimension measurements of testing apparatuses specified in the standard. The dimension measurements will be discussed further in the next meetings in June. There was a discussion on the D6413 Standard Test Method for Flame Resistance of Textiles (Vertical Test) to add parameters from a “darkened room” to 0-3 lux and to add a +/- range for the temperature and relative humidity in the room when testing. A working group was created to address these topics. AATCC RA109 also met along with D13.52. There was no new business to discuss.

The ASTM D13 main committee met and a recap of the different subcommittees that met was presented.
