Summary of Meeting:

The task group discussed comments about brake distances and agreed to increase the stopping distance to 18 feet, as testing showed this distance was achievable and stable. The task group discussed setting a 90-day frequency for digital acknowledgement warnings, considering that daily riders might find it obstructive to view warnings at the beginning of every ride. CPSC staff disagreed with toning down the language of the warnings and emphasized that the warning language should be strong and effective in ensuring compliance.

Next Steps:

The task group chair will edit the draft with the discussed changes to prepare the standard for ballot. CPSC staff will review the draft in preparation for ballot and the upcoming subcommittee meeting (scheduled for November 2025).
