Report to the President and Congress Pursuant to Section 209 of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008

The United States Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC, the Commission) is submitting this report to the President, Congress, and the public, as required under section 27(j) (15 U.S.C. 2076(j)) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), as amended by the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (CPSIA). The content of this report is specified in the CPSA and the CPSIA. The report describes many of the activities performed to protect the public from hazardous consumer products. Readers may also be interested in the CPSC's 2012 Performance and Accountability Report, required by the Government Performance and Results Act. All reports are available on the CPSC's website at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/en/About-CPSC/Agency-Reports/Performance-and-Budget/>.

The CPSC, established by Congress in 1972, is the federal regulatory body tasked with protecting children and families from unreasonable risks of injuries associated with consumer products. In 2010, the Commission launched a comprehensive strategic planning initiative to update its existing strategic plan and help align agency priorities to meet the challenges of the twenty-first century. For example, globalization and technological advances have increased the range of products on the market, as well as the challenges involved in overseeing and regulating thousands of product types that can be assembled across multiple countries. The resulting 2011–2016 Strategic Plan was developed through a consultative process involving input from consumer groups, industry stakeholders, and agency staff. It lays out an approach to achieve the CPSC's broad mission of protecting the public against unreasonable risks of injury from consumer products through education, safety standards activities, regulation, and enforcement. The overarching vision for the strategy is that the CPSC is the recognized global leader in consumer product safety. Readers may view the strategic plan on the CPSC's website at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/123374/2011strategic.pdf>.

The CPSC stands for safety and has been effective in reducing consumer product-related injury and death rates by using a wide range of strategies to identify and address product safety hazards. This report is organized around the five strategies noted below:

- Hazard Identification and Monitoring: collecting information and monitoring injury and death statistics related to the use of products under the CPSC's jurisdiction;
- Safety Standards: participating in the development and strengthening of voluntary safety standards and developing mandatory standards;
- Compliance and Enforcement: enforcing compliance with standards through compliance activities, such as recalls or other corrective actions, and litigating when necessary;
- Public Outreach: educating consumers, families, foreign governments, and industry about product safety recalls, safety alerts, emerging hazards, and safety standards; and
- Intergovernmental Coordination: coordinating on product safety issues with other governmental stakeholders.

Hazard Identification and Monitoring

The Commission, in fulfilling its mission to protect the public against unreasonable risks of injuries associated with consumer products, collects, reviews, and analyzes data on deaths, injuries, and societal costs associated with such products. This section describes the “Incidence of Injury and Effects to the Population” associated with products under the jurisdiction of the Commission. Four tables present summary data by totals and by age groups for:

- product-related deaths;
- product-related injuries;
- percent of emergency department visits resulting in hospitalization; and
- estimated costs of injuries.

Product-Related Deaths (Table 1). The CPSC collects mortality data through contracts with each state. The CPSC reviews about 8,000 death certificates each year, covering unintentional product-related deaths from all 50 states and the District of Columbia. The CPSC purchases death certificates that have a high probability of consumer product involvement. However, due to resource constraints, we cannot purchase all product-related death certificates, and because the death certificates we purchase sometimes fail to identify the products involved, the total number of actual product-related deaths may be higher than the number we report. While the deaths in this table represent product involvement, that involvement does not necessarily indicate causality.

Product-Related Injuries (Tables 2 and 3). Each year, the CPSC collects information about product-related injuries through its National Electronic Injury Surveillance System (NEISS). This unique system provides statistically valid national estimates of product-related injuries from a probability sample of hospital emergency departments (EDs) and is the foundation for many CPSC activities. These injury reports not only provide the means for estimating the magnitude of consumer product-related injuries in the United States, but they also provide a source for gathering further information concerning the nature and potential cause of accidents. Several foreign governments have modeled their national injury data-collection systems after the CPSC’s system. Annually, NEISS supplies almost 400,000 product-related cases from a sample of about 100 hospitals. The hospitals transmit incident information electronically, and in some cases, the data are available within 24 hours after an incident. Table 2 presents data on estimates of injuries associated with consumer products that resulted in hospital ED treatment. Table 3 presents estimates of the percent of such injuries for which the treated individuals were subsequently hospitalized. While the injuries in these tables represent product involvement, that involvement does not necessarily indicate causality.

Cost of Product-Related Injuries (Table 4). To estimate costs of hospital ED–treated, consumer product injuries, the CPSC employs its Revised Injury Cost Model. The costs noted in this report do not include the costs of consumer product-related injuries that were treated elsewhere, such as in physicians’ offices, health maintenance organizations, and freestanding urgent care clinics. Estimates also do not include the economic losses of fatalities associated with the use of consumer products. These losses may be substantial. Furthermore, cost estimates are not available for many acute and chronic illnesses associated with exposure to chemical hazards. The number and costs of these illnesses are expected to be large.

Products are aggregated into 15 product groupings for the deaths, injuries, and cost data presented (see pp. 7–8). These products are described in the NEISS Coding Manual, Directorate for Epidemiology, U.S. CPSC. The NEISS Coding Manual can be found online at:

<http://www.cpsc.gov/Media/Documents/Research--Statistics/NEISS-Injury-Data/NEISS-Coding-Manual>.

Additional data are collected and analyzed to develop more detailed estimates concerning products for which Commission remedial action has been considered. Based on interviews with victims or witnesses, the Commission identifies causes of incidents, including the interactions among the persons involved, the products, and the environment. Using all of the available data, Commission staff periodically prepares hazard analysis reports for selected products. Table 1 - Deaths Associated With the Use of Certain Consumer Products
October 1, 2008–September 30, 2009

This table presents number of death certificate reported fatalities associated with, but not necessarily caused by, the use of consumer products. These statistics were produced from data extracted from death certificates that the Commission purchases from the states. The time required for collection and processing varies by state, but the majority of death certificates are received within two years of the date of death. However, because of the 2 to 4 year time-lag in receiving 95 percent or more of the death certificates the CPSC has contracted for, this table represents deaths only through September 30, 2009. For deaths after this period the CPSC is still collecting data. Although the National Center for Health Statistics' (NCHS) mortality files do not support allocation of death estimates to associated product groups, CPSC estimates 35,900 annual consumer product-related deaths from these mortality files.

Table 2 - Estimates of Hospital Emergency Department-Treated Injuries
Associated with the Use of Certain Consumer Products

October 1, 2010–September 30, 2011¹

This table presents the estimates of hospital emergency department-treated injuries associated with, but not necessarily caused by, the use of consumer products. It is based on data collected from a statistically representative sample of hospitals as part of the Commission's National Electronic Injury Surveillance System (NEISS). The NEISS hospital sample has been updated periodically to take into account changes that have occurred in the NEISS sampling frame of emergency departments over time (e.g., including hospital emergency departments opened after the initial sampling frame was constructed). In addition, over time, there have been modifications to the definition of in-scope injuries. The emergency department-treated injury estimates in this table comprise a component of the approximate 38.6 million medically treated injuries, which include injuries treated in emergency departments, medical clinics, and doctors' offices. CPSC uses NEISS data and the CPSC Injury Cost Model to calculate medically treated injuries.

(in millions of dollars)

This table is derived by applying the Commission’s Revised Injury Cost Model⁴ to the estimates of hospital emergency department-treated injuries calculated in Table 2.⁵ Injury cost estimates are adjusted⁶ to 2008 price levels using the employment cost index and the per capita medical care consumption expenditure. The estimated emergency department-treated injury costs in this table comprise a component of the costs associated with the approximate 38.6 million medically treated injuries, which include injuries treated in emergency departments, medical clinics, and doctors’ offices.

SAFETY STANDARDS

The Commission reduces consumer product hazards through the development of mandatory safety standards and staff involvement in the development and strengthening of voluntary safety standards. This section presents:

- mandatory safety standards in effect;
- voluntary safety standards in which staff participated; and
- research activities in which staff participated.

1) Mandatory Safety Standards: Mandatory standards are developed through rulemaking. Under most of the acts the CPSC enforces, if a voluntary standard exists, by law, the Commission may not issue a mandatory standard unless it finds that the voluntary standard will not eliminate or adequately reduce the risk of injury or death or determines that it is unlikely that there will be substantial compliance with the voluntary standard. During the rulemaking process, staff seeks input from all interested parties, including consumers, industry, and other government agencies. The CPSC develops performance requirements, rather than design requirements, to give manufacturers the most flexibility. Examples of products for which mandatory standards are under development include: portable generators, upholstered furniture, recreational off-highway vehicles (ROVs), rare earth magnet sets, table saws, and firepots and fuel gels.

On August 14, 2008, the President signed into law the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (CPSIA). The CPSIA directs the Commission to implement numerous rulemakings and other official Commission actions intended to enhance the safety of consumer products. More than 40 separate rules or rulemaking activities were mandated by the CPSIA. Examples of rulemakings, related rulemaking activities, and official actions mandated or initiated pursuant to the CPSIA include: lead content determinations and exclusions; interpretative rules for children's products, children's toys, and a child care article; labeling of consumer products as complying with certification requirements; consumer registration forms; and new safety standards and accreditation requirements for durable infant or toddler products.

2) Voluntary Safety Standards: The CPSC's statutory authority requires it to rely on voluntary standards rather than issuing mandatory standards whenever compliance with a voluntary standard would eliminate or adequately reduce the risk of injury identified and it is likely there will be substantial compliance with the voluntary standard. CPSC staff works with organizations that facilitate the development of voluntary standards. Staff participates in the development of voluntary standards at a number of steps in the process. Staff first submits recommendations to voluntary standards organizations for new standards or modifications of existing standards. After receiving CPSC staff recommendations, organizations may conduct technical assessments (as appropriate); publish a proposal for public comment; receive and evaluate comments; or publish a standard. This process may take months to several years. Staff participates in the process by providing expert advice, technical assistance, and information based on data analyses of how deaths, injuries, or incidents occurred. The CPSC's voluntary standards policy currently does not permit staff to vote on proposed changes or new standards. Staff's comments are, however, considered throughout the process. A 2012 report by the GAO recommended a more active role in voluntary standards development for CPSC staff. Based on these recommendations, the CPSC is in the process of reviewing and updating the relevant regulation at 16 CFR § 1031.

The CPSIA added authority for the Commission, in certain cases, to specify by rule that a product or product class that does not comply with a voluntary standard is a substantial product hazard under the CPSA. This facilitates obtaining corrective actions when products that do not comply with such voluntary standards are found in commerce. The Commission adopted two such rules in 2011, for hair dryers and children's upper outerwear with drawstrings.

- 3) Research Activities: CPSC staff conducts and sponsors many research and study projects in furtherance of its activities to improve product safety and reduce or eliminate potential hazards associated with consumer products. The findings from such projects may be used by staff to develop and refine positions on voluntary and mandatory product safety standards. Examples include research on carbon monoxide alarms, technology to mitigate cooking fires, smoke alarms, and collaborative research with other federal agencies on nanotechnology.

Mandatory Rulemaking Activity in 2012

The following voluntary standards became mandatory consumer product safety standards in 2012:

- Durable Infant or Toddler Products - Portable Bedrails and Play Yards, 16 CFR Parts 1224 and 1221. The Danny Keysar Child Product Safety Notification Act, Section 104 of the CPSIA, requires the CPSC to promulgate consumer product safety standards for durable infant or toddler products. These standards are to be “substantially the same as” applicable voluntary standards or more stringent than the voluntary standard if the Commission concludes that more stringent requirements would further reduce the risk of injury associated with the product. In 2012, the CPSC promulgated two safety standards for children’s products; one was for portable bed rails and one for play yards. The Final Rule for portable bedrails was published in the Federal Register on February 29, 2012, and it became effective on August 29, 2012. This standard incorporates by reference ASTM F2085-12 “Standard Consumer Safety Specification for Portable Bed Rails”, but includes several modifications that strengthen the standard. The Final Rule for play yards was published in the Federal Register on August 29, 2012, and it went into effect on February 28, 2013. This standard incorporates by reference ASTM F406-12a “Standard Consumer Safety Specification for Non-Full-Size Baby Cribs/Play Yards; the provisions of ASTM F406-12a that apply to non-full-size cribs are excluded from this standard.

The following mandatory standards were revised, amended, or accepted in 2012:

- Durable Infant or Toddler Products - Infant Bath Seats and Full-Size Cribs, 16 CFR Parts 1215 and 1219: In accordance with section 104(b) of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (CPSIA), the CPSC has published consumer product safety standards for numerous durable infant or toddler products, including infant bath seats and full-size cribs. These standards incorporated by reference the ASTM voluntary standards associated with those products, with some modifications. In August 2011, Congress enacted Public Law 112–28, which sets forth a process for updating standards that the Commission has issued under the authority of section 104(b) of the CPSIA. In accordance with that process, the CPSC published a direct final rule, revising the mandatory consumer product safety standards for infant bath seats and full-size cribs to incorporate by reference more recent versions of the applicable ASTM standards. The ASTM revisions made the voluntary standards essentially identical to the mandatory standards that the CPSC had issued previously. The direct Final Rule was published in the Federal Register on July 31, 2012, with an effective date of November 12, 2012. In 2012, the CPSC also received notification from ASTM of an updated ASTM standard for toddler beds. The Commission did not accept the revised ASTM standard for toddler beds, and therefore, the CPSC standard for toddler beds remains as it is currently stated at 16 CFR, part 1217.
- Durable Infant or Toddler Products: Consumer Registration, 16 CFR Part 1130: In accordance with the CPSIA, the Commission in 2009 issued a final consumer product safety rule requiring manufacturers of durable infant or toddler products to establish a consumer registration program. The rule required that postage-paid consumer registration forms be provided with each product, that manufacturers keep records of consumers who register such products with the manufacturer, and that the manufacturer’s name and contact information, model name and number, and date of manufacture be permanently placed on each product. Formatting and text requirements also were specified. In 2012, the Commission amended the rule in order to clarify or correct certain requirements for format and text. The Final Rule, amending 16 CFR Part 1130, was published in the Federal Register on February 17, 2012, with an effective date of February 18, 2013.

- All-Terrain Vehicles (ATVs), 16 CFR Part 1420: Section 42(b) of the CPSA provides that, if ANSI/SVIA 1–2007, the American National Standard for Four Wheel All-Terrain Vehicles Equipment Configuration, and Performance Requirements, is revised after the CPSC publishes a Federal Register notice mandating ANSI/SVIA 1-2007 standard as a consumer product safety standard, ANSI must notify the CPSC of the revision, and the CPSC has 120 days after receiving that notification to issue a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend its mandatory ATV standard “to include any such revision that the Commission determines is reasonably related to the safe performance of [ATVs] and notify the Institute of any provision it has determined not to be so related.” 15 U.S.C. 2089(b)(1) and (2). Thereafter, the CPSC has 180 days after publication of the proposed amendment to publish a final amendment to revise the ATV standard. The CPSC published the ANSI/SVIA 1-2007 standard as a mandatory standard on November 1, 2008, and the voluntary standard was revised in 2010. The Commission concluded that none of the revisions would diminish the safety of ATVs and all of the changes could be related to the safe performance of ATVs because the changes improve the standard’s clarity and consistency and, in that way, advance the standard. The final rule amending the mandatory ATV standard to reference the 2010 edition of the ANSI/SVIA standard was published in the Federal Register on February 29, 2012, with an effective date of April 30, 2012.
- Toys: In February 2009, the CPSIA made the provisions of ASTM F963–07, Standard Consumer Safety Specifications for Toy Safety (except for section 4.2 and Annex 4 or any provision that restates or incorporates an existing mandatory standard or ban promulgated by the Commission or by statute) mandatory consumer product safety standards under section 9 of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA). On May 13, 2009, the Commission accepted revisions to the standard that were proposed by ASTM, by accepting ASTM F963–08 (except for the removal of section 4.27 of ASTM F963–07, which covers toy chests). The requirements of ASTM F963–08 became effective on August 16, 2009, except for section 4.27 (toy chests) of ASTM F963–07, which was already in effect. On December 15, 2011, ASTM officially proposed replacing ASTM F963–08 with the revised ASTM F963–11 version. The CPSIA provides that, upon ASTM notifying the Commission of proposed revisions to ASTM F963, the Commission must incorporate the revisions into the consumer product safety rule, unless within 90 days of receiving the notice, the Commission notifies ASTM that it has determined that the proposed revisions do not improve the safety of the consumer product(s) covered by the standard. If the Commission so notifies ASTM regarding a proposed revision of the standard, the existing standard remains in effect, regardless of the proposed revision. If the Commission does not object to the proposed revisions, the revised standard becomes effective 180 days after the date that ASTM notifies the Commission of the revision. The Commission determined that the proposed revisions in ASTM F963–11 improve the safety of the consumer products covered by the standard and accepted ASTM F963-11 as a mandatory consumer product safety standard, with an effective date of June 12, 2012; because ASTM F963–11 does not reincorporate section 4.27 (toy chests) of ASTM F963–07, however, that provision from ASTM F963–07 regarding toy chests remains in effect. The acceptance of the standard was published in the Federal Register on February 22, 2012, with an effective date of June 12, 2012.

The following mandatory Final Rules were promulgated in 2012:

- Testing and Labeling Pertaining to Product Certification: In 2012, the Commission promulgated a Final Rule that establishes protocols and standards with respect to certification and continued testing for children’s products. The rule also establishes requirements for labeling of consumer products to show that the product complies with the certification requirements of Section 14(a) of the CPSA. The Final Rule was published in the Federal Register on November 8, 2011 with an effective date of February 8, 2013. This Final Rule creates a new 16 CFR part 1107.
- Conditions and Requirements for Relying on Component Part Testing or Certification, or Another Party’s Finished Product Testing or Certification, to Meet Testing and Certification Requirements: In 2012, the Commission promulgated a Final Rule that sets forth the conditions and requirements under which passing component part test reports, certification of component parts of consumer products, or finished product testing or certification procured or issued by another party, can be used to meet, in whole or in part, the testing and certification requirements of sections 14(a) and 14(i) of the CPSA. The Final Rule creates a new 16 CFR, part 1109. It was published in the Federal Register on November 8, 2011, with an effective date of December 8, 2011.
- Audit Requirements for Third Party Conformity Assessment Bodies: The Commission promulgated a Final Rule establishing requirements for the periodic audit of third party conformity assessment bodies as a condition of their continuing accreditation. Except for certifying organizations described in 16 CFR 1500.14(b)(8), the audit requirements of this rule apply to third party conformity assessment bodies operating pursuant to section 14(a)(2) of the CPSA. The rule discusses who must conduct the audit, what the audit must address, when it must be conducted, what a third party conformity assessment body should do after an audit, and what audit records should be retained. The Final Rule creates a new 16 CFR, part 1112. The final rule was published in the Federal Register on May 24, 2012, with an effective date of July 23, 2012.
- Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act - Interpretation of Unblockable Drain, 16 CFR 1450.2(b): The Commission issued a Final Rule revoking its interpretation of the term “unblockable drain” as used in the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act (VGB Act). The revocation of the rule means that a drain cover can no longer be used to convert a blockable drain into an unblockable drain; a public pool or public spa that was equipped with an unblockable drain cover so as to create an unblockable drain must now be equipped with a secondary anti-entrapment system as required by the VGB Act. The Final Rule revoking the interpretation was published in the Federal Register on October 11, 2011 with an effective date of May 28, 2012. This effective date was extended to May 23, 2013 by a Final Rule published in the Federal Register on May 24, 2012.

2) Voluntary Safety Standards

The CPSC issues the Voluntary Standards Tracking and Access Report (VSTAR) on a semi-annual basis. The report includes the objective of each standard under development, the name of the employee leading the activity, and the status of the standard. A summary from the FY 2012 annual report is provided below for convenience. The Web address for the report is:

<http://www.cpsc.gov/Global/About-CPSC/Reports/Voluntary-Standards/fy12volstds.pdf>.

Forty new, revised, or reaffirmed voluntary safety standards, for which CPSC staff provided monitoring or technical support, were completed during the period from October 1, 2011 to September 30, 2012. These voluntary safety standards address: stationary activity centers, bassinets and cradles (two standards), bed rails, toddler beds, bedside sleepers (two standards), bicycles, booster seats, candles (two standards), youth folding chairs, constant-air inflatable play devices for home use non-full-size cribs and play yards (two standards), drywall, garage door/gate operators, helmets (recreational), infant bedding and accessories (two standards) infant bouncers (two standards), infant carriers (hand-held), infant carriers (soft), infant sling (sling carriers), infant swings (two standards), infant tubs, infant walkers, mattresses, monitors (baby), mowers, home playground equipment (two standards), public playground equipment, shopping carts (two standards), swimming pools and spas, toys, and trampolines.

In total, from October 1, 2011 to September 30, 2012, CPSC staff provided technical support (summarized in the VSTAR) or monitored the development of 72 voluntary safety standards. The majority of voluntary standards development activities are managed by three standards development/coordinating organizations: ASTM International (previously called the American Society for Testing and Materials), the American National Standards Institute (ANSI), and Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (UL). The standards developed by these organizations provide safety provisions addressing potential hazards associated with consumer products found in homes, schools, and recreational areas.

3) Research Activities

Commission staff conducts studies and investigates deaths, injuries, diseases, and economic costs associated with consumer products. This research is used to identify hazardous products and design effective strategies to reduce product hazards. In 2012, CPSC staff conducted or participated in the following research:

ATV Annual Data Update: Staff prepared the annual report on ATV-related deaths and injuries. The report includes data on deaths by state, relative risk of death by year, and injuries distributed by year and age grouping. The report is available at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/atv2011.pdf>.

Several toxicity reviews for phthalates and phthalate substitutes were completed in support of the Chronic Hazard Advisory Panel (CHAP) activities. A contractor report that assessed the toxicity potential of three nanomaterials was also completed, in addition to staff reports that summarize these toxicity reviews. Draft staff assessments were also completed to update the Commission's guidance limiting the use of animals to test substances that might be hazardous under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act. Staff also completed a draft briefing package for Commission consideration of acceptance of Interagency Coordinating Committee on the Validation of Alternative Methods (ICCVAM) recommendations on four test methods regarding ocular toxicity testing, and revisions to the murine local lymph node assay in 2012.

Cigarette Ignition Risk: In 2012, staff completed a testing program on the ignition propensity of mattress coverings when exposed to reduced ignition propensity (RIP) and conventional cigarettes. A report describing the results of the testing program is available on the CPSC web site at <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/139726/cigsmolder2012.pdf>.

Cook Tops: In 2012, staff posted a contractor report, Pan Temperature-Limiting Control Technology to Reduce Incidence of Unattended Cooking Fires, on the CPSC website. This report described the results of contractor work to design, fabricate, and test experimental control systems to detect and prevent food ignition on a cook top. The report is available at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/135815/cookingfires.pdf>.

Durable Nursery Products Exposure Survey: In 2012, staff finalized an exposure survey questionnaire and its design; the survey will enable staff to gather baseline data to help in evaluating durable nursery products voluntary standards effectively and to measure potential future impacts of the CPSIA mandatory requirements on durable infant or toddler products.

Economic Impact of CPSC Work: In 2012, staff applied a general equilibrium model using the General Algebraic Modeling System (GAMS) to simulate the economic impact of reduced injuries to consumers attributable to CPSC actions.

Enhanced Smoke Alarms: The U.S. Fire Administration provided a status report prepared by Oak Ridge National Laboratory on the design, fabrication, and testing of a fully functional prototype home smoke alarm, incorporating multiple sensors, and operated by a microcontroller. The report, Home Fire Alarms—A Technology Roadmap, is posted on the CPSC web site. It can be found at <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/93425/homesmokealarm.pdf>.

Fire-Related Annual Updates: In 2012, staff completed its annual report on residential fire losses. The reports, 2008–2010 Residential Fire Loss Estimates: U.S. National Estimates of Fires, Deaths, Injuries, and Property Losses from Unintentional Fires, is available on the CPSC website at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/130049/fire10.pdf>.

Staff also reviewed voluntary standards and scientific literature, constructed testing chambers to carry out preliminary testing to develop alternate test methods to measure the energy release of aerial fireworks, and conducted preliminary drop tests of “adult snapper” fireworks. A report, FY 2012 Fireworks Safety Standards Development Status Report, is available on the CPSC web site at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/138398/Fireworks-Status-2013.pdf>.

A staff report, titled: “Study on the Applicability of X-ray Fluorescence Spectrometry or Measuring Lead in Metal and Glass Substrate”, is Tab C of the document available at <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/125416/tprequirements.pdf>.

Nanotechnology:

Airborne Nanoparticles from Consumer Products: In 2012, the CPSC signed an interagency agreement (IAG) with National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) to conduct testing to determine the release of nanoparticles from a range of paints and coating materials into indoor air. This project will meet an important objective in developing methods to distinguish engineered nanoparticles from those that may be produced incidentally in the home.

Carbon Nanotubes in Consumer Products: In 2012, staff signed a modification of an existing memorandum of understanding (MOU) with the NIST and began the next phase of testing selected consumer products containing nanotubes.

Enhancement of the National Library of Medicine (NLM) Household Products Database: In 2012, staff signed a modification of an existing memorandum of understanding (MOU) with the NLM to identify approaches to enhance the Household Products Database (HPD). This work developed information that will provide consumers with knowledge about the uses of nanomaterials in products and the health effects of nanoparticles.

Nanomaterials in Consumer Products (Exposure and Risk Assessment): In 2012, staff supported the work involving an interagency agreement (IAG) among the National Science Foundation (NSF), the U.S. EPA, and the CPSC. The NSF, in collaboration with NIST, completed a review of studies related to previous findings and experimental procedures for quantifying release of, and exposure to, nanomaterials from treated products.

Nanomaterials in Aerosol Products: In 2012, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) completed testing of nanoparticles incorporated into inks and toners used in home office equipment, including quantification of the concentrations and characteristics of airborne nanoparticles released during use.

Nanomaterials in Aerosol Products (Exposure and Inhalation Effects): In 2012, NIOSH completed a significant phase of the research into the exposure and health effects associated with the use of nanomaterials in newly selected aerosol products. A manuscript was published in the Inhalation Toxicology Journal. The abstract is located at this link: <http://informahealthcare.com/doi/abs/10.3109/08958378.2012.685111>. The manuscript also can be accessed through this link.

Nanomaterials in Products and Public Health: In 2012, under the National Nanotechnology Initiative (NNI), staff signed an IAG with the National Science Foundation (NSF) to support research on the release of nanomaterials from clothing during consumer-use scenarios.

Nanosilver in Consumer (Children's) Products: In 2012, a draft report on the use of nanosilver in selected consumer products was completed. The presence of silver nanoparticles in a wide range of consumer products primarily used by children was confirmed.

Nanotechnology Annual Data Update: In 2012, staff purchased reports describing the commercialization of nanomaterials and updated the internal database of products that contain nanomaterials. This information was summarized in a draft annual update that also includes a summary of staff activities related to nanotechnology. In addition, staff updated the CPSC's database of detailed information on these products. Staff hosted a meeting of the International Life Sciences Institute (ILSI) Nano Release Consumer Products Project that provided an overview of the commercialization of carbon nanotubes and release scenarios from consumer products. A wide range of stakeholders attended the meeting.

Nanotechnology Research (Nanomaterial Exposure, Risk, and Consumer Products): In 2012, staff supported a collaborative research effort among the EPA and similar agencies within the United Kingdom to develop research to quantify nanomaterial exposure to consumers and to develop risk models to predict potential health effects. The researchers are part of an international team whose collaboration is serving as a model for systematically addressing complex problems associated with nanoparticle risk assessment. In 2012, a status report describing the data generated by this research effort was completed.

Non-Children's Bed Rails: In 2012, staff conducted a review of existing epidemiological data of deaths and injuries associated with bed rails for consumers 13 years of age and older. A memorandum, Adult Portable Bed Rails-Related Deaths, Injuries and Potential Injuries: January 2003-May 2012, was completed and is available on the CPSC web site at <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/133466/adultbedrail.pdf>.

Nursery Equipment Annual Update: In 2012, staff completed its report on nursery product-related injuries and deaths to children under the age of five years. The report, Injuries and Deaths Associated with Nursery Products Among Children Younger than Age Five, can be found on the CPSC website at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/136143/nursery11.pdf>.

Phthalates and Phthalate Substitutes: In 2012, CPSC staff continued to provide scientific and administrative support of the CHAP, including support for meetings in November 2011 and February 2012. CPSC staff hosted a symposium, Phthalates Screening and Testing Methods, on March 1, 2012. The webcast and the slides that were used at the symposium are posted on the CPSC website at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/en/Regulations-Laws--Standards/CPSIA/CPSIA-Topics/CPSC-Symposium-Phthalates-Screening-and-Testing-Methods/>. Staff also developed a draft guidance document for Commission consideration on inaccessibility of component parts containing phthalates. It is available on the CPSC web site at: <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/141240/phthalatesinaccessible.pdf>.

The report, titled: Technology Demonstration of a Prototype Low Carbon Monoxide Emission Portable Generator, is available on the CPSC web site at <http://www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/130989/portgen.pdf>.

Recreational Off-Highway Vehicles (ROVs): In 2012, CPSC staff completed testing and evaluation of ROV rollover propensity and occupant protection systems. Testing of multiple vehicles that represent the ROV market was done by contractors and CPSC staff. Tests included steady-state circular steer tests to determine each vehicle's steering profile, J-turn tests to determine the lateral acceleration at tip up, and full-scale rollover testing to evaluate occupant excursion during roll over. Analysis of the occupant excursion differences in the vehicle models highlights the effect of the vehicle's occupant protection design (shoulder restraints, foot enclosures, doors, seat belt systems, and seat enclosure design) in retaining the occupant during lateral rollover.

Compliance and Enforcement

The CPSC learns about potential product defects from many sources, including incident reports, consumer complaints, the agency's Hotline, and SaferProducts.gov. In addition, firms are required legally to report to the Commission potential product hazards or violations of standards. The Commission works with companies to remove products from the marketplace when they violate mandatory safety standards or are defective and create a substantial risk of injury. This section presents:

- Voluntary recall orders taken by importers or manufacturers;
- Letters of Advice to importers and manufacturers; and
- Commission determinations and judicial actions.

1) Voluntary Recall Orders Taken by Importers or Manufacturers: Through investigations of potential product defects, Headquarters and Field staff identify defective products not covered by regulations. In addition, firms, by law, are required to report potential product hazards or violations of standards to the Commission. When a recall is necessary, Compliance staff negotiates with the responsible firm. In 2012, CPSC staff completed 439 cooperative recalls (100 percent voluntary) of products that either violated mandatory standards or were defective and presented a substantial risk of injury to the public. If a firm refuses to recall a product voluntarily, the CPSC may file an administrative complaint seeking to require a recall. This section lists the voluntary recalls performed by companies to address possible hazards in 2012.

The CPSC developed the Fast-Track program to streamline the process of recalls for firms that were willing and prepared to recall their products quickly. Because every defective product could present a risk of injury or death, removing hazardous products from the marketplace faster can prevent more injuries and save lives. Last year, 211 of 439 recalls were under the Fast-Track program. Recalls under the Fast-Track program are conducted without the need for time-consuming hazard analyses. In 2012, Fast-Track recalls were initiated within 20 days of a firm's report to the CPSC 99 percent of the time.

2) Letters of Advice to Importers or Manufacturers: Imported products are screened at the port by the CPSC or in coordination with U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP). For all products regulated by the CPSC, the Commission issues a Letter of Advice (LOA) when there is a violation of a mandatory standard. It advises the company of the violation and the nature of the necessary corrective action (to correct future production (CFP); to stop sale and CFP; or to recall, stop sale, and CFP). This section lists the LOAs sent to importers and manufacturers in 2012, where the Commission received a response from the company confirming the violation; the Commission decided that the company completed a voluntary correction agreed upon for the company to remedy the hazard; or the CBP seized the product at the port.

3) Commission Determinations and Judicial Actions: When companies knowingly fail to report potential product hazards or violations of standards to the Commission, as required by law the CPSC can seek civil penalties in U.S. courts. In 2012, the CPSC negotiated out-of-court settlements in which nine companies voluntarily agreed to pay $6.94 million in civil penalties to the U.S. Treasury. Other tools used for enforcement may include legal action under either section 12 or section 15(c) or 15(d); federal court actions for violations of prohibited acts of the statutes that the CPSC administers; and pursuit of criminal cases, where appropriate. Enforcement and litigation activities are listed in several tables in this section of the report.

1) Voluntary Recall Actions Taken by Importers or Manufacturers

Headquarters and Field staff identifies defective products not covered by regulations through their investigations of potential product defects. In addition, firms are required by law to report potential product hazards or violations of standards to the Commission. When a recall is necessary, Compliance staff negotiates with the responsible firm. In 2012, CPSC staff completed 439 cooperative recalls (100 percent voluntary) of products that either violated mandatory standards or were defective and presented a substantial risk of injury to the public. 2) Letters of Advice to Importers or Manufacturers

Imported products are screened at the port by either the CPSC or in coordination with U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP). For all products regulated by the CPSC, the Commission issues a Letter of Advice (LOA) when there is a violation of a mandatory standard. It advises the company of the violation and of the nature of the necessary corrective action (to correct future production (CFP); to stop sale and CFP; or to recall, stop sale, and CFP). This section lists the LOAs sent to importers and manufacturers in 2012, where the Commission received a response from the company confirming the violation; the Commission decided that the company voluntarily completed corrective action to remedy the hazard; or the CBP seized the product at the port. Many imported products were seized at the ports by the CPSC and CBP. This list presents the violation and action to be implemented (recalls are at different stages of the distribution process, including consumer level) by the company specified.

3) Commission Determinations and Judicial Actions

When companies knowingly fail to report potential product hazards or violations of standards to the Commission, as required under section 15 of the CPSA, the CPSC can seek civil penalties. The Commission has the authority to compromise any civil penalty or file suit in federal court seeking a civil penalty. In 2012, the CPSC negotiated out of court settlements in which nine companies voluntarily agreed to pay $6.94 million in civil penalties to the U.S. Treasury.

The Commission has a variety of enforcement authority, including the ability to take legal action under section 12 (to declare a product an imminently hazardous consumer product) or section 15(c) or 15(d) of the CPSA (to protect the public from products that present a substantial product hazard or order a recall or other corrective action as appropriate, respectively). The Commission may also seek pursuit of criminal penalties against offenders. Enforcement and litigation activities of the Commission are listed in several tables below.

Lawsuits Filed Seeking Mandatory Recall Remedies under Section 15 of the CPSA

In 2012, CPSC filed two separate lawsuits under section 15 of the CPSA against two companies that manufacture and distribute rare earth magnets; the actions seek determinations that these products constitute a substantial product hazard and seek mandatory recall remedies for consumers.

Commission Determined Imminent Hazards - Section 12 of the CPSA

There were no instances in 2012 where the Commission took action under section 12 of the CPSA.

Completed or Pending Judicial Actions: Litigation and Settlements

This section summarizes federal court cases, categorized by type, to which the Commission was a party or participated during 2012. Federal court cases include subpoena enforcement, civil penalty, seizure, injunction actions, cases with the Commission as defendant, and bankruptcy matters.

PUBLIC OUTREACH

The Commission communicates with the public about product-related hazards through print, broadcast, radio, and online media; its Hotline; Neighborhood Safety Network and other listservs; events; and other outreach activities. The Commission also meets with stakeholders to discuss matters related to the mission of the CPSC. This section presents information on many of the activities used to provide safety information to consumers and industry in 2012 through:

- consumer outreach;
- dissemination of technical information; and
- cooperation between Commission officials and stakeholders.

1) Consumer Outreach: The CPSC alerts the public through recall announcements, print and video news releases, public service announcements, publications, national and local television appearances, the CPSC Hotline, Neighborhood Safety Network, and listservs. The CPSC communicates with the public through various online media, including:

- CPSC websites
- CPSC information centers (resale/thrift stores, drywall, cribs, CO and generators, magnets, window coverings);
- the OnSafety blog (www.CPSC.gov/OnSafety);
- recall widget (www.CPSC.gov/cgi-bin/javascripts/widgetrss.html);
- phone app (<http://www.cpsc.gov/en/Newsroom/Subscribe/CPSC-Mobile/>); and
- social media sites (YouTube, Twitter, Flickr).

The CPSC also alerts the public through other outreach activities, such as the Neighborhood Safety Network (NSN). This is a grassroots program that provides timely, lifesaving information to about 7,500 organizations and individuals who, in turn, share CPSC safety posters, videos and news alerts with underserved consumers who otherwise might be unlikely to hear or receive information from the CPSC.

The number of visits to the CPSC's website, www.CPSC.gov, has grown rapidly from about 200,000 visits in 1997, to more than 48.2 million visits in 2012. The increase is due in part to the new CPSC 2.0 social media initiative, including YouTube, Twitter, Flickr, the OnSafety blog, and the recall widget. In 2010, the CPSC made available for the first time a widget, a Web-based tool that third parties can feature on their Web pages that displays brief summaries of the latest CPSC safety information. The presence of the CPSC widget on other organizations' Web pages accounted for tens of millions of additional views of CPSC safety information.

The CPSC website, www.CPSC.gov, has been revamped and is continuing to be enhanced to widen and speed public access to important safety information. The redesign will enhance the user experience, improve search functionality, and streamline the content management and posting processes.

The Hotline is a toll-free service that allows consumers to report product complaints or product-related injuries, learn about recalls and safety hazards, and obtain safety publications.

The National Injury Information Clearinghouse provides data to the public in response to more than 1,000 requests each year. It also alerts manufacturers to potential hazards associated with their products, providing them with consumer complaints, reported incidents, and incident investigations involving their products.

In December 2008, the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act (VGB), which addresses the hazards of child drowning and drain entrapment, went into effect. In 2010, the CPSC awarded a contract to develop and implement a comprehensive information and education campaign that teaches pool and spa safety steps that stress prevention of drowning and entrapment by engaging stakeholders as partners at the national and grassroots levels. Child safety experts work on public and residential drowning prevention programs for parents and children, and industry organizations share VGB compliance information with pool and spa owners and operators.

- 2) Dissemination of Technical Information: As part of the CPSC's research activities and other support work, the Commission develops many technical reports and presentations to present findings and share ideas. These documents are very useful to other researchers and industry. The reports listed in this section were developed in 2012, and are located on the CPSC's website.

- 3) Cooperation between Commission Officials and External Stakeholders: In the course of the year, the Commissioners and staff at the CPSC held meetings with consumers, industry, and the public on matters related to the mission of the CPSC. A list of meetings of "substantial interest" for 2012 is provided in this report. CPSC's Meetings Policy defines "substantial interest" as "any issue that is likely to be the subject of a regulatory or policy decision by the Commission." The Meetings Policy requires CPSC staff and Commissioners to: (1) announce meetings in advance on the Public Calendar; (2) hold meetings that are open to the public unless certain specified exceptions apply; and (3) submit meeting summaries to the Office of the Secretary. For copies of the Public Calendar visit: <http://www.cpsc.gov/Newsroom/Public-Calendar/>.

Fire Hazards

About 430 million impressions related to fire safety messages were achieved through newspaper stories, radio stories, social media outreach, TV appearances, and video broadcasts.

Carbon Monoxide (CO) Hazards

About 104 million impressions related to carbon monoxide safety messages were achieved through newspaper stories, radio stories, social media outreach, TV appearances, and video broadcasts.

Children's and Other Hazards

About 1.849 billion impressions related to children's product safety messages were achieved through newspaper stories, radio stories, social media outreach, TV appearances, and video broadcasts.

Conducted Public Information Efforts:

ATV Safety: An ATV Safety Summit was planned and organized during the summer to address ATV safety issues and took place on October 11–12, 2012. The standalone website, www.ATVSafety.gov, was updated with biweekly death and injury data regularly. About 80 percent of the states with ATV regulations that we monitor were updated on our website during the year. In 2012, more than 50 media outlets were contacted through the CPSC's Rapid Response efforts. In addition, the CPSC generated a pre-Memorial Day news release promoting safe ATV riding and frequently used the @OnSafety Twitter account to promote rider safety.

Back to School Safety: In 2012, the CPSC used several communication tools to reach out to schools and families regarding Back-to-School safety. The CPSC distributed the CPSC's Back-to-School safety YouTube video and the Back-to-School safety checklist. Also, OCM staff presented school safety information to school administrators and owners, and federal partners monthly through the National School Safety Coalition with Consumers Union. Staff also presented at the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) conference in Orlando, FL, and also distributed safety materials at the Zero to Three Conference in Washington, DC. Media and social media efforts were conducted to highlight school dangers, including a safety blog on the dangers associated with drawstrings and Tweets on several bicycle and children's toy recalls and media interviews reaching more than 13 million consumers. The CPSC also provided federal, state, and local partners, including the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), Safe Kids, and the Bicycle Helmet Institute, with school safety recall information on playgrounds, bikes, and pogo sticks.

Bicycle/Helmet Safety: In 2012, CPSC staff worked with the National School Safety Coalition (Consumers Union), NHTSA, and other state and local partners to disseminate bicycle and bicycle helmet safety information and recalls. Also, the CPSC's "Which Helmet for Which Activity" publication was distributed to school administrators and parents' associations by CPSC staff at school, daycare, and minority outreach conferences. The CPSC issued press releases and Tweets on bicycle recalls reaching about six million consumers. Bicycle and bicycle helmet safety information was also highlighted in Back-to-School messages reaching more than 13 million people.

CO Alarms: Throughout 2012, the CPSC stressed the importance of installing CO alarms. In two separate news releases, when Daylight Savings Time ended in November 2011, and when it began in March 2012, the CPSC urged consumers to replace batteries in their alarms annually.

Fireworks Safety: On June 26, 2012, the CPSC launched its annual fireworks safety initiative. A news conference was held on the grounds of the Washington Monument with federal partners, including the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives and the Department of Transportation's Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration. Chairman Tenenbaum and guest speakers conducted interviews with national and local media immediately following the press event. CPSC staff produced a video news release highlighting key data and demonstrations from the press event. The video, distributed via satellite on June 26 and June 27, was used by media nationwide, reaching millions of viewers. A news release highlighting fireworks injuries and use trends was distributed and posted on the CPSC's website. An infographic depicting injury patterns was created and distributed to Neighborhood Safety Network partners. This link is available at <http://www.cpsc.gov/onsafety/2012/06/cpsc-science-fireworksinjuries/>.

Halloween Hazards: In October 2011, CPSC staff began its Halloween safety efforts by issuing a news release offering easy-to-remember safety tips to prevent fires and burn injuries. In addition, Chairman Tenenbaum and CPSC staff conducted media interviews with local and national media, including The Weather Channel and CNN. A three-step safety check poster was created and distributed to Neighborhood Safety Network partners and posted to the CPSC website. Twitter messages were sent to @OnSafety followers, and the Halloween video PSA was highlighted on the CPSC YouTube page. CPSC's OnSafety blog highlighted the current trend of creatively carved pumpkins. The blog warned about cuts to adults and children from sharp carving tools and burns from open candles.

Holiday Decoration Hazards: In 2012, the CPSC conducted a live fire demonstration at our National Product Testing and Evaluation Center to warn consumers about dangers associated with holiday-related products and decorations. Along with a senior official at Underwriters Laboratories, CPSC staff and Chairman Tenenbaum demonstrated hazards associated with dried-out Christmas trees, unattended lit candles, and faulty holiday lights. Media representatives from ABC, NBC, FOX, CNN, AP, and The Washington Times attended and reported on the demonstration, resulting in an estimated audience reach of more than 100 million.

Holiday Shopping/Toy Safety: In 2012, Chairman Tenenbaum and Communications staff hosted a satellite media availability to highlight toy safety during the holiday toy shopping season. Interviews were conducted to highlight toy safety tips, toy recalls, and CPSIA toy requirements, reaching an audience of more than 12 million consumers. Chairman Tenenbaum also conducted a national radio tour that reached an additional one million listeners. The toy safety NSN poster was also disseminated to educate parents, grandparents, and caregivers; and a national press release was issued regarding a toy recall decline and stronger safety rules for toys. CPSC staff also released the Toy Injury and Death report with recent statistics. Overall, the holiday toy safety media and social media campaign secured more than 81 million impressions. In February 2012, Chairman Tenenbaum gave the keynote speech at the annual Toy Industry Association (TIA) Toy Fair safety seminar, while staff communicated with hundreds of children's toy manufacturers at our exhibit.

Home Heating (CO hazards): The CPSC issued a news release and OnSafety blog in November 2011, at the beginning of home heating season, urging consumers to check CO alarms, advising consumers on proper placement of CO alarms, and recommending an annual professional inspection of all fuel-burning appliances to prevent CO poisoning.

Home Heating (Fire Hazards): The CPSC issued a news release and OnSafety blog, and held a press conference at the beginning of home heating season in October 2011, during Fire Prevention Week, to stress the importance of fire safety. The CPSC also issued a press release in December 2011, reminding consumers to check their homes for winter weather-related recalls, including space heaters. This effort was further supported by blog postings in October and December, promoting the use of smoke detectors.

Imported Products: CPSC staff organized and emceed public sessions/press events for the 4th Biennial US-China Consumer Product Safety Summit and the Third Biennial Consumer Product Safety Trilateral Summit involving the United States, China, and the European Union. Chairman Tenenbaum conducted interviews or was quoted in key trade publications and foreign media, based on her remarks at both events.

In-Home Drowning Prevention: CPSC staff issued a press release alerting the media and water safety partners about the agency's In-Home Drowning Report, identifying risks found in every home. TV broadcast impressions reached 1.5 million people. A message was sent to the Pool Safely listserv, and the release and report were posted on both the CPSC and the Pool Safely websites. Pool Safely contractor, Safe Kids USA, produced 8,000 copies of a DVD curriculum on water safety tips for preschoolers. Safe Kids mailed the DVD to 7,000 Head Start programs, including some first responders, and the CPSC sent an additional 600 to childcare centers.

Natural Disaster Preparedness: The CPSC issued a press release with the USFA to warn consumers to be vigilant when using portable generators to deal with power outages that could be caused by winter storms, because generators emit poisonous carbon monoxide. CPSC investigators distributed thousands of CO safety publications to FEMA disaster recovery centers in affected areas, for distribution directly to consumers. The CPSC also contacted media directly with generator CO safety messages as two winter snowstorms caused power outages in the Northeast and the Southwest.

Poison Prevention: The third week of March is designated as National Poison Prevention Week. To raise awareness about unintentional poison dangers, the CPSC partnered with its North American partners, Health Canada and Profeco. A joint news release offering safety tips was issued by the three product health and safety agencies. In addition, the CPSC worked with its partners on the Poison Prevention Week Council to mark the 50th anniversary of the observance. CPSC staff coordinated with the Council to post messages to social media, including daily themed Twitter messages, using a single hash tag, #PreventPoison. To highlight 50 years of poison prevention efforts, CPSC staff created and distributed an NSN poster, noting major prevention efforts and successes, including the requirement for child-resistant closures on aspirin, a major source of unintentional poisonings in the 1970s.

Port Safety: CPSC staff in the Office of Communications and the Office of Import Surveillance coordinated to produce two quarterly news releases highlighting import safety actions that resulted in the seizure of products that violated a federal mandatory standard. Staff also issued an inaugural release focused on import safety successes from fiscal year 2011, which informed the media and public about the agency's import surveillance program. Additionally, import investigators coordinated with Office of Communications staff to take part in CBP-hosted press events in Los Angeles, Houston, Miami, and Newark to announce publicly noteworthy product seizures.

Portable Gas Generators: CPSC staff issued a press release and report announcing that new research has revealed changes that can be made to gasoline powered engines to make them give off far less CO than they currently emit. The CPSC warned about the CO danger with portable generators throughout the year. The CPSC and the USFA issued a joint press release on generator safety as Hurricane Isaac hit the United States in August 2012. CPSC staff also conducted Rapid Response to engage the media and Tweeted on generator safety following major snowstorms that knocked out power in October 2011, in the Northeast and December 2011, in the Southwest.

Tip-Overs: In 2012, CPSC staff hosted the agency's first Twitter chat to raise awareness on the topic of furniture and television tip overs. The CPSC promoted the Twitter chat to social networking moms and to media and community groups nationwide. A Neighborhood Safety Network e-mail was sent to 5,000 NSN members and a media advisory was sent to media, childcare state officials, and childcare recall e-mail subscribers. The CPSC directly Tweeted the chat to celebrities who are parents, to parent groups on Twitter, and to Chicago mommy bloggers. Two major bloggers picked up the Twitter chat and wrote blogs: The Washington Post's Parenting Blogger and the Consumer Reports blogger. WDIV Detroit also blogged about the chat. In addition, the Chicago Tribune wrote about the chat in a TV/furniture tip-over story that also ran on other Chicago Tribune partner websites. At the time of the chat, there were several media reports of tip-over incidents in the Chicago area. In addition, the CPSC participated in a tip-over prevention webinar with state and local designees. The webinar provided the designees with background information on tip-over dangers and resources to help promote the awareness effort.

Recall Roundup: CPSC staff reached 104 television stations with live and taped interviews and contributed to various stations' segments on Recall Roundup.

SaferProducts.gov: Throughout the year, countless media contacts were directed to use data from SaferProducts.gov. Materials promoting the site, in general, and to specifically targeted audiences, like health professionals, were handed out at every outreach function attended by headquarters and field staff. Feedback from the media and event participants was consistently positive. Numerous call backs from media cited SaferProducts.gov data for subsequent stories. Event participants reported sharing the resource with colleagues and using it to file reports. Late in the year, three video PSAs produced were put online and promoted through online paid placements to drive viewership and use.

Safety Publication Update: The CPSC updated three safety guides/publications in 2012. Updated safety guides include: publication 281 "For Kids' Sake"; publication 252 "Childproofing Your Home" (both were updated in both English and Spanish); and publication 3200 "Burn Safety Awareness on Playgrounds."

CPSC staff developed a publication on youth football helmet safety, together with the CDC. The "4 Quarters of Football Helmet Safety" publication addresses vital safety topics such as proper helmet fit, usage, and maintenance/care. This publication is being distributed by the CPSC to consumers by the National Athletic Equipment Reconditioning Association (NAERA) with reconditioned/recertified youth football helmets and by some manufacturers as well. Also, the National Football League (NFL) posted a copy at www.nflrevolution.com. The CPSC held a press conference on youth football helmet safety with the NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell in Akron, OH, in August 2012, and distributed the publication at this event as well. The CPSC has thus far distributed 52,000 copies of the publication upon request.

Smoke Alarms: The CPSC issued news releases to the media in fall 2011 and spring 2012, advising of the importance of working smoke alarms, testing smoke alarms monthly, and the necessity of using new batteries in alarms every year. The CPSC also featured the importance of smoke alarms in its Fire Prevention Week press conference, press release, and blog in October 2011, and blogged again about smoke alarms in December 2011.

Window Covering Cords: Throughout 2012, CPSC staff promoted window covering safety with new publications, during media interviews, and as a part of recall announcements. A new NSN poster was created and distributed to the 7,526 NSN members, posted to the CPSC website, and featured on the CPSC's homepage. In addition, the CPSC announced the recall of nearly 500,000 units of window coverings due to the risk of strangulation. With each recall, CPSC staff promoted the overall safety warning.

Implemented a Minority Outreach Program through:

Minority Outreach Tour: CPSC staff visited conferences geared toward minority leaders and communities, participating for the first time in the National Association of Hispanic Nurses event in Puerto Rico. CPSC staff also conducted minority outreach activities at events hosted by the following organizations: National Council of La Raza in Las Vegas, NV; National Urban League in New Orleans, LA; Congressional Black Caucus and the League of United Latin American Citizens, both in Washington, DC; and Blacks in Government conference in Detroit, MI. During these visits, CPSC staff distributed more than 8,000 publications, met with dozens of community leaders, and conducted interviews with media representing minority populations. Many of these organizations signed up to become NSN members and receive e-mail alerts about recalls.

Minority Outreach Awareness Campaign: The minority outreach team in the CPSC's Office of Communications developed and distributed, through national contacts and visiting five national conferences, targeted safety messages for minorities, including:

- Bilingual voice-over videos for "SaferProducts.Gov"; "Teen to Teen: Magnet Talk"; and "Baby Monitor Cord" safety videos. These videos were featured on the CPSC's Spanish YouTube page, with about 11,000 upload views.
- Information on major safety campaigns and recalls was translated into Spanish, including: 55 news releases, 10 OnSafety Blogs, and 4 NSN posters.
- The following six publications were created in both English and Spanish: Create a Safe and Sound Zone; Bare is Best; Plastic Film Alert; 4 Quarters of Helmet Safety; Safe Sleep; and Baby Monitor Cord Safety (which was also translated into French).
- Staff compiled more than 50 new minority media and grassroots organization contacts who will be included in the CPSC's distribution lists, including bloggers and social media outlets targeting minorities.
- Pool Safely contractor, Safe Kids USA, developed and mailed to Head Start programs throughout the United States more than 7,000 DVDs in English and Spanish for preschoolers. An additional 600 DVDs were sent by the CPSC to child care centers and state education services departments for similar programs.

Neighborhood Safety Network Membership: The CPSC contracted with two public relations firms to engage and recruit members from a national network of youth and family services organizations, as well as minority-based organizations that serve low-income or disadvantaged families. They communicated the NSN goal of placing important safety information into the hands of NSN members and encouraged them to disseminate information to all of their members. The effort included a robust phone outreach to daycares, preschools, community/recreation centers, camps, and YMCAs. These efforts brought the NSN contact total to 7,526 by year's end.

Grassroots Initiative: CPSC staff sent 19 messages to NSN members and completed five posters on the topics of window covering safety, toy safety, poison prevention, rare earth magnets, and sleep safety (Bare is Best) for a total of 24 new posters/messages. Another seven posters/messages were initiated in 2012, and will be disseminated in 2013.

Informed the Public about Pool and Spa Safety through:

Consumer Outreach: In 2012, the CPSC exceeded the goal and achieved more than 250 million impressions.

- Pool Safely published a Portable Pool Tip Card in April and released a press statement alerting the public to the dangers of portable pools (7.2 million impressions).
- For the third consecutive year, Chairman Tenenbaum was a guest on the Today Show to discuss pool and spa safety and to express concerns about the most vulnerable populations (3.8 million impressions).
- A Satellite Media Tour in May with partner Wanda Butts garnered 23 direct TV interviews, followed by a press briefing and resulting in 38 TV broadcasts and 72 print articles (7.9 million).
- Two radio media tours were conducted: (1) in April on portable pool safety (7.2 million impressions): and (2) in July with the American Red Cross (0.7 million impressions).
- A pre-July 4 press statement from the Chairman was issued, reminding parents to watch their children near water (0.7 million impressions plus 25 Patch stories).
- An end of summer drowning report was disseminated providing the number of child drownings tracked in the media (0.8 million impressions).
- The Rapid Response program responded to 143 drowning incidents and provided safety tips to media organizations in the localities of the incidents.
- Public service announcement (PSA) coverage for TV and radio in English and Spanish achieved 205.8 million impressions.
- Pool Safely contractor Safe Kids USA used their Facebook page to engage with families about drowning prevention. The "Five Truths of Drowning" and "Do your kids know how to swim?" achieved 21 million impressions and 2,786 likes on Facebook.

Public Information and Education Campaign: In 2012, the CPSC conducted seven information and education activities to address child drowning and entrapment:

- In April, Pool Safely's Campaign Leader was a guest on a webinar for the Children's Safety Network, a consortium of early childcare agencies associated with hospitals.
- A pre-Memorial Day First Splash launch and Satellite Media Tour with partners the Josh Project, USA Swimming, and the National Drowning Prevention Alliance in Fort Lauderdale, FL, was followed by a Twitter party.
- Sponsorship of the World's Largest Swimming Lesson included supporting 97 facilities with Pool Safely material kits. Chairman Tenenbaum and Rep. James Moran participated in press event at a pool in Northern Virginia.
- A pre-July 4 press statement urging parents to watch children around water was coupled with a radio media tour in Mid-July featuring the Chairman and the American Red Cross;

- Pool Safely Day in late July featured 78 facilities sharing Pool Safely materials and messages in educational sessions and swim lessons for children and was supported by a midsummer press release reminder about the dangers of drowning.
- Pool Safely hosted a webinar and a teleconference with 67 partnering organizations to discuss campaign events, enlist participation, and answer questions.
- Pool Safely produced new education materials, including a Portable Pool Tip Card in English and Spanish, a Water Watcher Card, and a Safety Barrier Guideline for Residential Pools pamphlet.

PoolSafely.gov Website Development: In 2012, www.PoolSafely.gov was enhanced through updates to information about compliance issues, including a new ruling from the Commission on unblockable drain covers. Two new products were added: a Portable Pool Tip Card in English and Spanish and a pamphlet titled, Safety Barrier Guidelines, for residential pools. A new video player was added for easier selection and viewing of Pool Safely education and training videos, including a larger viewing screen. Three new videos were added on drain cover safety and compliance, lifeguard safety, and backyard drowning safety. The carousel was updated regularly with news about our events, and a well-designed and colorful infographic presented data on drowning incidents in pools and spas around the country. An online training program was added, which is the product of a 2011 contract and offers a high-quality training experience with self-testing capabilities. Social media buttons, badges and widgets were added.

Rapid Response Initiative: Pool Safely Rapid Response safety information and tips for the public were sent within three business days to the reporting outlet and other media in the vicinity for all 143 drownings reported by the media that involved children younger than 15 years of age.

Informed the Public about Safe Sleep Environments through:

Safe Sleep for Babies: In 2012, the “Safe Sleep for Babies” video was produced in a new shortened version and was distributed to federal partners, hospitals, advocacy groups, and websites to help educate parents and caregivers. The video was also linked throughout social media efforts, including a BabyCenter Twitter event on Safe Sleep and a Facebook Q & A on safe sleep, featuring Chairman Tenenbaum with a major retailer. Several major juvenile products retailers also linked the “Safe Sleep for Babies” video to their baby registry, in-store monitors, product packaging websites, and social media outreach. In addition, the CPSC posted a new baby monitor cord video on the CPSC Crib Information Center and distributed it to child care organizations and thrift stores nationwide. This video reached more than 20 million people with distribution from CPSC and the Juvenile Products Manufacturers Association. CPSC staff also exhibited and attended the Children’s Hospital Association in St. Louis, MO, and distributed the safe sleep video to hundreds of hospitals for education classes, in-hospital television networks, and training materials. More than 200 “Safe Sleep for Babies” videos were distributed directly to hospitals in attendance. Federal partners, including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), the Administration for Children and Families (ACF), the Early Head Start program, and WIC program (the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children) continue to use the “Safe Sleep for Babies” video for use in waiting rooms that was distributed to more than 5,000 centers. The Newborn Channel Network also runs the video on in-house hospital networks, reaching more than 3 million viewers. CPSC staff at headquarters and in the Beijing office coordinated with Safe Kids China to share this video with Chinese families.

Crib Safety Mandatory Standards: In 2012, the CPSC Chairman and staff conducted numerous outreach activities to highlight the new crib standard:

- CPSC staff hosted a teleconference with more than 300 child care state licensing groups to respond to Q&As regarding the new standard.
- The crib standard NSN poster was distributed to more than 2,500 child care centers and associations nationwide.
- The CPSC partnered through social media efforts with retailers and parent publications and websites to get the word out about safe sleep and the crib standard.
- The Office of Communications staff distributed crib standard materials through five national conferences, including the National Urban League, Children’s Hospital Association, Zero to Three Conference, National Association for the Education of Young Children, and the Congressional Black Caucus, as well as through state designees.

Safe Sleep Environments: In 2012, CPSC staff worked to inform consumers about the dangers associated with children’s products, including infant slings, sleep positioners, and baby monitor cords, and to explain the new crib standard. A shorter version of “Safe Sleep for Babies” video was produced for retailer use. Press releases and media interviews were conducted throughout the year, and social media efforts included hosting a Twitter party on safe sleep and a Facebook Q&A with the Chairman and a major retailer. The CPSC also produced and distributed a new “Bare is Best” NSN poster that was placed on the Crib Information Center, distributed through NSN, and child care and parent blogs, websites, and retailer outreach. The CPSC Chairman and staff hosted a satellite media tour during Baby Safety Month (September) to highlight safe sleep environments and the new crib standard. The CPSC “Safe Sleep for Babies” video and the baby monitor cord safety alert, video, and blog were posted on the Crib Information Center and distributed through federal and industry partners. CPSC staff worked with federal interagency workgroups, including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services’ Sudden and Unexpected Infant/Child Death/Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SUID/SIDS) interagency workgroup to distribute safe sleep releases, videos and social media, as well as the National Partnership for Action (NPA) Federal Interagency Health Equity Team (FIHET). CPSC staff presented and exhibited at two national childcare professional conferences and one Children’s Hospital Association (CHA) conference.

Reaching Consumers on Safe Sleep: In 2012, the CPSC achieved 124 million impressions through television, radio, print, and social media outlets, including blogs and tweets.

INTERGOVERNMENTAL COORDINATION

The Commission works with many agencies over the course of a year. This section describes the significant coordination the CPSC has had with other governmental organizations. Specifically, this section provides information on: (1) a major state-supported safety initiative for the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act; (2) the Commission's efforts coordinating with state and local programs; and (3) significant communication with other governmental agencies and offices, including any notification under section 218 of the CPSIA.¹⁰ In 2012, no state or local official filed a written notice to the Commission under section 218 of the CPSIA.

1) Major State-Supported Safety Initiatives

Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act (VGBA): The VGBA affects public pools and spas nationwide, and the Commission's enforcement of the Act requires the cooperation of state and local agencies. In 2012, states worked cooperatively with the CPSC to conduct over 1,200 inspections of pools at over 800 sites to verify compliance with the Act. Inspection reports were submitted to the CPSC for the appropriate follow up and corrective action. State employees conducting the compliance activities were:

1. recognized by the state or local government as an inspector with delegated authority and/or jurisdiction for inspecting pools and spas in the State;
2. knowledgeable of swimming pool circulation systems and equipment; and
3. knowledgeable of the VGBA and requirements that were necessary for compliance with the law.

2) State and Local Programs

Section 29(a) of the Consumer Product Safety Act requires that the Commission establish a program to promote federal-state cooperation for the purpose of carrying out the Act. The goal of the program is to reduce consumer product related deaths and injuries by leveraging CPSC resources through cost-effective cooperation with state and local governments. In 2012, activities included the following:

- Assigning compliance and enforcement activities to the states. The table below provides the number of CPSC assignments to state officials made during the year;
- Supporting states through technical assistance and participation in conferences;
- Monitoring industry's compliance with CPSC mandatory laws;
- Engaging in outreach and dissemination of information through multiple venues, such as journal, print, electronic media, and presentations sharing product safety research;
- Hosting training webinars and conference calls for state designees;
- Working to meet or exceed annual performance goals. In 2012, state partners conducted product safety activities, including recall checks and inspections, and completed 100 percent within 90 or fewer days after assignment.

Global Outreach programs include outreach and capacity building to ensure that manufactured products meet U.S. safety requirements. The CPSC works with U.S. trading partners at the outset of the manufacturing process to increase their ability to produce products that comply with U.S. safety requirements.
