DIRECTORATE FOR ENGINEERING SCIENCES

SUBJECT: Meeting with Inchcape Services

DATE OF MEETING: February 6, 1996

LOG OF ENTRY SOURCE: Andrew G. Stadnik, AED/ES AG Stadnik

COMMISSION ATTENDEES:

Ronald L. Medford, Office of Hazard Identification and Reduction
Jacqueline Elder, Office of Hazard Identification and Reduction
Andrew G. Stadnik, Directorate for Engineering Sciences

NON-COMMISSION ATTENDEES:

Joan Sterling, Inchcape Testing Services

SUMMARY OF MEETING:

Ms. Sterling requested this meeting to make the CPSC staff aware of Inchcape's presence in the Washington, D.C. area and her role as their government liaison. She provided an overview of Inchcape. She indicated that Inchcape is an independent testing laboratory with the capability of testing a wide variety of consumer products. Ms. Sterling discussed Inchcape's interest and some concerns with certain standards development processes. Inchcape competes with UL and other laboratories to conduct independent testing to certify their clients' products to various standards.
