CPSC staff met with members and representatives of the Specialty Sleep Association (SSA). The SSA has developed a Mattress Safety & Environmental Program aimed at educating manufacturers, retailers, retail sales associates, and consumers about safety, green, sustainability, and environmental issues related to mattresses. One of the goals of the program is to provide specific information about sustainability and green initiatives in the mattress industry.

Information on the background, development of the program, levels of certification, industry membership in the program, and plans for announcing the program was presented. Examples of the labels and seals for marking products were also introduced. The program's website is: www.sleepinformation.org
