SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER VACATING INITIAL DECISION, DISMISSING COMPLAINT AND RETURNING CASE TO ADJUDICATION TO CLOSE THE CASE

On March 16, 2026, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (“Commission”) issued an Order dismissing the administrative complaint and vacating the Initial Decision in this matter, and directing the Administrative Law Judge (“ALJ”) to close the case. The assigned ALJ had been detailed to the Commission in 2022 through the Office of Personal Management’s interagency ALJ loan program. The Commission has since been informed that the ALJ is no longer available to perform further functions in this proceeding because his home agency withdrew from the program. In light of the Commission’s prior disposition of this matter, no further adjudicative action is required.

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED that the Secretary of the Commission is directed to enter a notice administratively closing this proceeding and to update the docket to reflect this matter is terminated.

SO ORDERED this 29th day of April, 2026.

BY THE COMMISSION,

Alberta E. Mills
Secretary
U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission
